As a member of the Art League,
you know what it means to belong.
We're asking you to pass it on.

Everyone has their own reasons why they want to belong to the Art League family. You may want to be inspired by being around creative people.

You may want to be creative by taking a class or showing your art. You may want to be connected by volunteering your time and talents. You may want to be social, have fun and make new friends.

Whatever motivates you to belong to the Art League's membership, we're hoping you have a like-minded friend who may also enjoy and benefit from the experience. As a current member, you are our best ambassador to tell our story and help us reach out. And you'll get a really nice reward if your friend - or friends - sign up!

Bring us a new paid member, and we'll reward both you and your friend with a limited edition print, "Plovers at Assateague," by Patrick Henry. Valued at $100 and signed by the artist.
14.5x22". Limited to first 250 referrals.

When you belong to the Art League as a member,

you join a large, extended family where you feel a sense of belonging. We generously share our gifts with each other.

Our members are a beautiful mix of talents, ages, genders, races, beliefs, backgrounds, generations, experiences, personalities, interests, and goals.

Some of our members paint, photograph, draw, sculpt, weave, carve, mold, fire, collage, perform, video, shape, exhibit, sell.

Other members appreciate, support, get inspired, help out, connect, volunteer, write, greet, work as art ambassadors.

Our members encourage each other's creative interests and endeavors with energy, opportunity, advice, and even critiques - but always with kindness.
